

QUARTER 1, 2018

OLD MUTUAL MULTI-MANAGERS AGGRESSIVE BALANCED FUND OF FUNDS

THE AIM OF THE FUND

The Fund of Funds gives investors the opportunity to grow their capital and income at a moderate to high pace through active asset allocation. It utilises South African and global managers who are mandated to invest in specific asset classes including listed shares, fixed interest securities, listed property and cash. The portfolio aims to achieve a return in the range of 5%-7% above inflation over rolling seven-year periods.

RECENT PERFORMANCE

It was a tough first quarter with the unusual combination of weaker global equity markets and a stronger rand dragging the Fund's one-year return down to 5.6%. Bear in mind that the Fund has significant exposure to international assets (also through JSE-listed global companies). Inflation declined to 4% in February, meaning that returns were still positive in real terms.

Global equities started the year strongly, but sold off heavily in February and March as a market repricing of interest rate risk was soon followed by the scare of a trade war after the US imposed import tariffs. The MSCI All Countries World Index still returned 15.4% in US dollars over the past year, but only 2.0% in rands, with the rand's surge in December continuing into the first quarter. Tactically, we maintained an overweight position in emerging market equities, which strongly outperformed developed markets. This tactical overweight to emerging markets, together with most of our active global equity managers outperforming their benchmarks, resulted in our global equity building block beating the global equity index by 2.8%. International property has struggled over the past year, with the EPRA/NAREIT Developed Index returning only 3% in US dollars over the past year, but outperformance from our managers softened the blow.

The JSE followed global markets lower in February and March, wiping out the year's gains. In the quarter, we received approval from the Financial Services Board (FSB) to change our equity benchmark to the JSE Capped SWIX Index, which limits the index weight of Naspers (and any other share) to 10%. Unfortunately, most of our equity managers lagged the benchmark in the year to the end of March. We spend our time understanding the drivers of performance at managers, rather than focusing on their short-term returns. It is better to analyse performance over longer periods. Knee-jerk changes in manager selection tend to be counterproductive.

Listed property had a torrid quarter due to corporate governance concerns at the Resilient stable of companies, which constitutes around 40% of the FTSE/JSE SA Listed Property Index (SAPY). The SAPY lost 7.1% over the year to the end of March, but our active managers limited the building block loss to 1.9%.

Buoyed by declining inflation, a rate cut and a ratings reprieve from Moody's, local bonds rallied in the first quarter, lifting one-year returns to 16.2%. The local fixed income building block aims to beat the better of bonds or cash, and our managers are unlikely to have the full duration of the All Bond Index. The building block can therefore be expected to lag the ALBI somewhat if it runs hard (as it has), but we are satisfied with the 13.2% one-year return from our fixed income building block.

FUND ASSET ALLOCATION AS AT 31 MARCH 2018

TACTICAL ASSET ALLOCATION CHANGES

At the end of the first quarter, the Fund was still positioned heavily overweight to global equity, with a strong bias towards emerging market equities. There was also a small allocation to African equity and a moderate overweight to global property. There was no exposure to global bonds. Given the improved local prospects, we are increasing our local equity exposure into weakness, closing the underweight position. Following the sell-off in listed property we have also moved the weighting from underweight to neutral. We remain overweight to local interest-bearing assets.

LOOKING AHEAD (AND REMEMBERING THAT THE RECOMMENDED TIME HORIZON OF THE FUND IS SEVEN YEARS PLUS)

- We are looking through the volatility of the first quarter and still believe equities should deliver the best returns over time. Our overall equity exposure (local plus global) is slightly overweight relative to the long-term strategic weighting. Good global economic growth is starting to deliver improved company earnings and local prospects appear to be improving.
- Property companies should be able to deliver returns above inflation as rental income grows.
- Even after the South African Reserve Bank has cut rates, local bond yields remain attractive with inflation subdued, while the risk of a further downgrade has diminished substantially. Local bond returns should beat inflation.
